

Evacuation map for those stuck near Yokohama Station and the surrounding area who cannot return home

This map shows temporary evacuation sites and temporary facilities for those who cannot return home in the event of a disaster.

- When disaster strikes, be sure to check for damage to roadside buildings and bridges etc. and evacuate safely.
- Please refer to the tsunami evacuation map when a tsunami warning is issued.

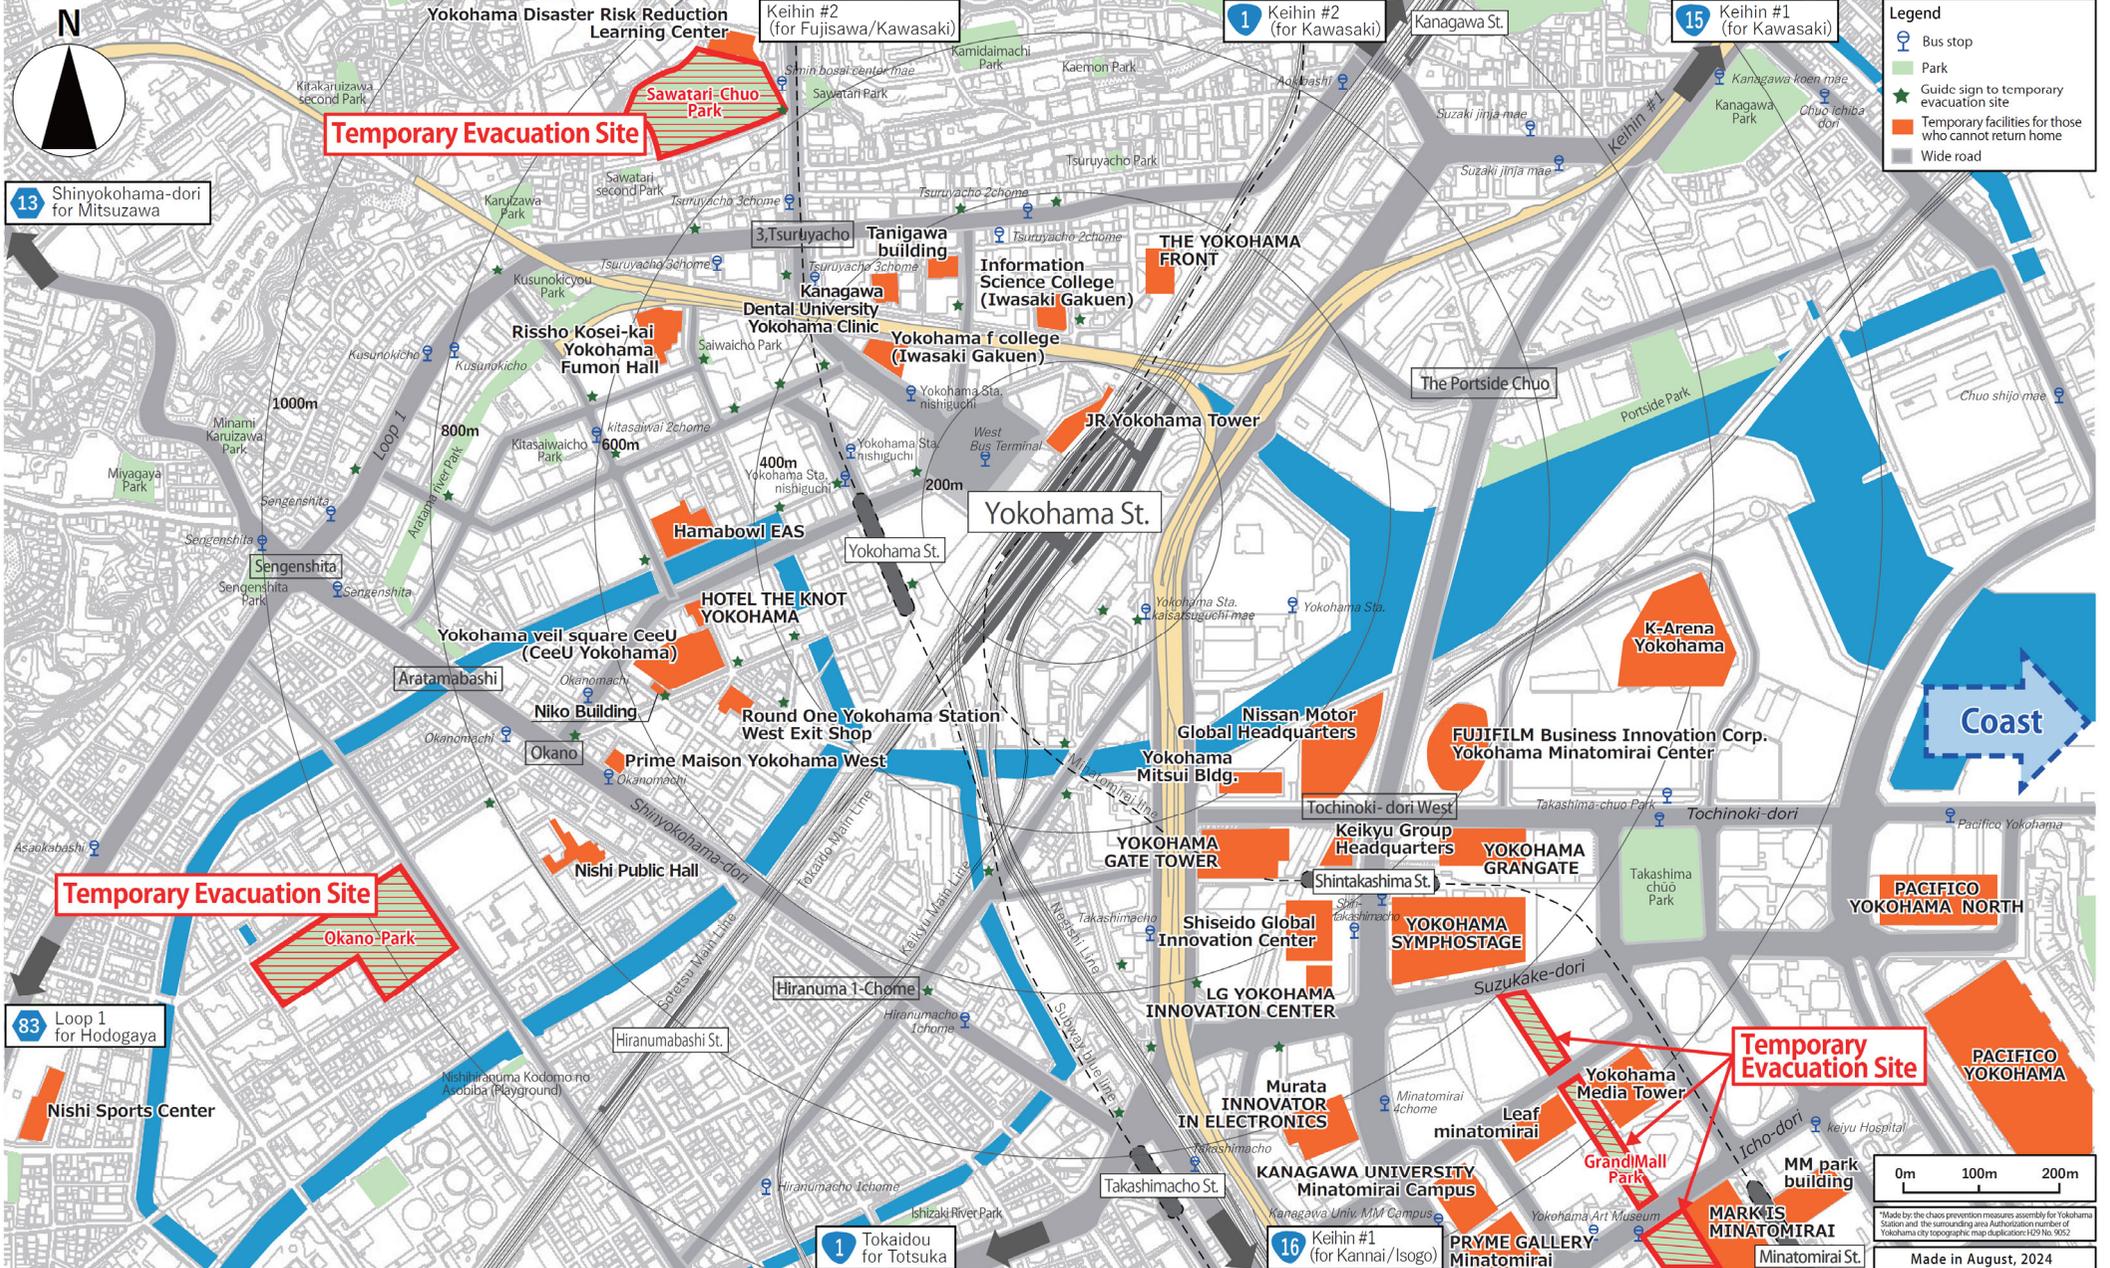

Explanation of terms

- Temporary evacuation site
A park etc. that provides temporary security for residents and disaster-related information. (Usually from several hours to half a day after the disaster)
- Temporary facilities for those who cannot return home
A facility that temporarily accepts those who cannot return home and provides, to the best of its ability, restrooms, water, and information in addition to a rest area. (Usually until the morning after the disaster)

Those who are unable to return home can use a temporary facility search system to check the open status of facilities.
